Excerpt: . . . 11 anticipated the final report in December 2008, but now expects it in spring 2009. Labor experienced a number of challenges in evaluating the initiatives. These include having to limit its evaluation to only 6 grantees of 166, because only 6 had sufficient participants to ensure a statistically significant evaluation. They also include problems gaining access to workers earnings data and inconsistent outcome data from grantees. Labor officials said they plan to conduct a comprehensive evaluation of the Community-Based initiative. The first phase of the evaluation will examine the extent to which the Community-Based grants addressed the stated workforce objectives and challenges funded projects were intended to address, as well as document the role of business and the workforce investment system in the overall success of the grants, according to Labor. This phase will also include an examination of the feasibility of performing an impact evaluation and will be completed in late 2008. Depending on the results of this phase, Labor officials said an impact evaluation will begin in 2009. For its evaluation of the WIRED initiatives, Labor says it is examining the implementation and cumulative effects of WIRED strategies, including change in the number and size of companies in targeted high-growth industries and whether new training led to job placement in the targeted industries. It contracted with the Berkeley Policy Associates to conduct the evaluation for the first 13 grantees, and a final report is expected by June 2010. It also contracted with Public Policy Associates to similarly evaluate the 28 remaining WIRED grantees. Labor officials said these initiatives are not included...
