Basically no phrases to clarify. It really is written in straightforward phrases rather than hard to understand. You will not sense monotony at any moment of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you ask me).

Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Southern Planter, Vol. 1 To collect, examine, select from, and report to his readers in a clear, simple, and condensed style, all the information, to which, by the most untiring exertion, he can gain access, will be the aim and object of the editor: and so far as the most extraordinary and zealous devotion to the cause in which he is embarked, may entitle him to hope for success, so far he has a right to expect it. But after all, his main reliance must be upon the friends of agriculture. His own unassisted exertions, no matter how strenuous, must be of little worth. Let the hundreds who have already manifested such an extraordinary interest in the success of this work, remember, that without the co-operation of the practical husbandman, no design of the kind can possibly prove successful. Our chief object is to afford a medium for the interchange of opinions and observations: we therefore not only invite, but entreat, the farmers of the south, to avail themselves of the opportunity to afford, not to us, but to each other, and to their brethren of the north, from whom they receive so much, the benefit of their experience; and they should remember that he who adds nothing to the common stock, can hardly complain if he receives but little from it. What can we do, but strain every nerve to call forth such communications, and then to condense and select from the materials thus afforded? Knowing the difficulty of eliciting communications from men unaccustomed to writing for the public eye, and remembering the old adage, that what is every body's business is...
